Bureau of Emergency Medical Services and Preparedness

Complaint/Investigation Process

The Bureau of Emergency Medical Services and Preparedness (BEMSP) has a process in which people, organizations, or agencies can file a complaint. These are submitted to and managed by the Bureau of Emergency Medical Services and Preparedness's Compliance Officer.

When to file a complaint

Utah has a very competent and professional pre-hospital EMS and medical transport system, however, if you experience concerns or issues in the system, and believe that a provider's performance or professional behavior is not acceptable, you can file a complaint with the BEMSP for investigation.

State of Utah and the Department's responsibilities

The BEMSP licenses EMS personnel in the State of Utah. They also inspect and permit EMS vehicles. The Compliance Officer is responsible for investigating complaints related to EMS providers as well as ensuring compliance within the Emergency Medical Services pre hospital system.

We do not investigate civil or criminal matters and do not represent you as an individual. The EMS laws and rules require that we represent the citizens of the State of Utah. Regulatory authority is given in Utah State Code Annotated Title 26-8a. it authorizes the Utah Department of Health's BEMSP and the State EMS committee to regulate a provider's ability to practice in the State of Utah. The law that mandates the BEMSP to oversee the EMS system and authorizes for action to be taken on a license or even civil penalties issued, but does not allow for criminal penalties or civil damages. Any person seeking to recover fees or monetary remedies for injuries should consult an attorney regarding those matters.

Filing a complaint

While we hope that you will never have to file a complaint against an EMS provider. Please read the attached form carefully and fill it out in its entirety. All materials received in connection with the complaint will become property of the Utah Department of Health and will not be returned. Whenever possible information about the complainant will be kept confidential.

We will not initiate a complaint without a completed and signed form. Please return the form as promptly as possible. Email this form along with any supporting documentation to rgedwards@utah.gov or mail to the address below.

Results of investigation

When the investigation is completed and a determination made by the BEMSP that a significant violation has occurred, disciplinary action will be pursued. Providers and agencies will be given the proper due process to appeal such actions.

Once a decision has been reached at the closing of the investigation, the BEMSP will notify you of the findings. The content of such letter varies depending on the circumstances of the complaint, however they generally contain the following types.

1. There was no violation of Utah law or EMS rules that would lead to disciplinary action, but the practitioner has been informed of any concerns raised by the investigation.
2. There was a violation of either Utah law or EMS rules and a formal disciplinary action was taken, the actions are included in a public record, and reported.
